Don't risk defective or clouded title issues. Restore certainty at closing with reQuire.

At reQuire, we know Title Curative Services (TCS) are critical to those who are tasked with meeting deadlines for real estate closings. reQuire's TCS professionals are trained to research and identify the lender or servicer authorized to execute a document to cure the title defect, and to procure a properly executed release or assignment. Our team will obtain an original document or provide a copy of the complete recorded document for each in question. Plus, if our team is not successful in obtaining a "cure," you don't get charged for the service.*
